

It's no secret that our eyesight fades as we age. We may develop cataracts that cloud our vision or lose the ability to see small print without reading glasses. Fortunately, recent medical advances have made cataract surgery and clear lens exchange safe and highly effective procedures for turning back time on aging eyes.

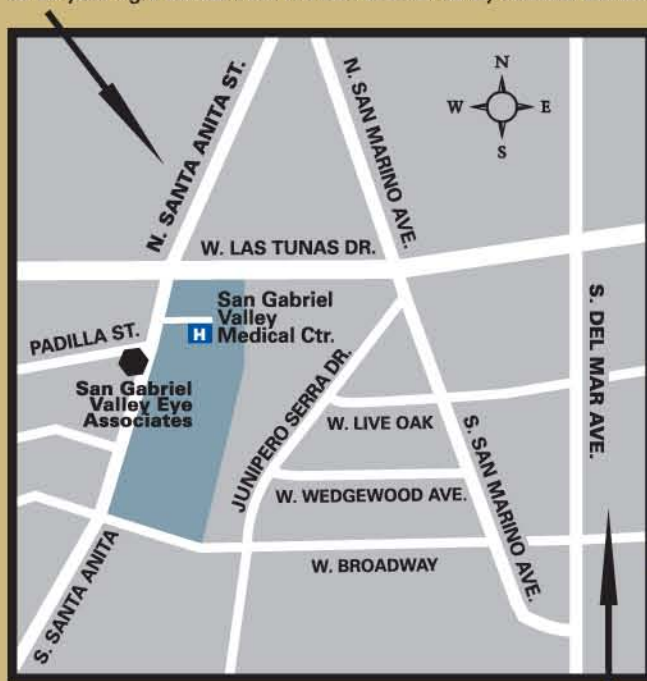

Choosing the right eye surgeon for your cataract or clear lens exchange surgery is a big decision. You'll want someone committed to the highest standard of treatment. San Gabriel Valley Eye Associates (SGVEye) is dedicated to just that: professional excellence in surgical eye care.

Many people approach eye surgery with equal parts excitement and apprehension - excitement about the potential improvement to their eyesight, and apprehension about the procedure itself. At SGVEye, you can relax and feel secure in knowing you've chosen a respected and most trusted name to help restore your vision.

Training from top medical schools. Dr. David Richardson, who performs all of SGVEye's surgeries, is a highly trained ophthalmologist (eye surgeon). He received his medical training from Harvard Medical School and the University of Southern California / Doheny Eye Institute — two of the country's top-teaching institutions.

Extensive experience. As the area's premier resource for cataract and clear lens exchange surgery, Dr. Richardson has performed thousands of surgeries. This experience contributes to both safe and highly successful results.

Latest Innovations in Cataract Surgery- Restoring near and distance vision.

Each year millions of Americans undergo cataract surgery to remove an aging, cloudy lens inside the eye. With traditional cataract surgery, only distance or near vision — not both — could be restored, leaving patients dependent on glasses or contact lenses.

SGVEye offers the latest alternatives in intraocular lenses (IOLs) that go one step further, removing cataracts and restoring a more natural range of vision.

premier Cataract & Clear Lens Exchange Surgery

Modern Clear Lens Exchange - Offering greater freedom from glasses. If you're of the baby-boomer generation, you're probably experiencing presbyopia, or "aging eyes." It's a condition that makes reading and close-up work more difficult, unless you have reading glasses or contacts.

Fortunately, SGVEye can correct presbyopia with a treatment option called clear lens exchange. During this procedure, the eye's natural lens is replaced with an advanced IOL. This restores a more functional vision, offering you greater independence from both distance and reading glasses.
